EDUCATION

Our educational assets

ISM-IAE's training programs promote integrated, responsible management, combining organizational expertise with a societal approach.

ISM-IAE specializes in cross-disciplinary approaches to management, with both professional and academic teaching. All our courses are supported by our management research laboratory, LAREQUOI.

Almost all courses are offered on a sandwich course basis, in partnership with the apprentice training centers (CFA) of the CCI Paris Île-de-France and Promeo. Continuing education programs are also offered in partnership with IFG Executive Education, part of the INSEEC U group.

Two training methods

Initial training

There are two types of initial training: traditional training with courses throughout the year, followed by an internship period, and apprenticeship training with alternating courses and work in the company.

Continuing education

Training courses for employees or job-seekers, with institutional funding, to support their professional projects.
